ANNUAL REPORT & ACCOUNTS 2014

With the imminent retirement of some of our longest serving Committee Members, we have had an anxious year trying to work out how to replace the irreplaceable Anna Jefferson Smith, who has been on our Main Committee since 1999 and also convened the Commons and Open Spaces Sub-committee since 2000, is retiring this year. Anna, who joined the Society in 1967, has an encyclopaedic knowledge of all things to do with Clapham, from everything that happens on the Common to Who's Who in Lambeth Council.

Jill Cramphorn, the Society Secretary, who has kept us all accurately minuted and in perfect order since 2000, is also retiring. Jill has been an incredibly hard-working member of the Society since 1975 and held roles as a member of the Main Committee, newsletter editor in the 1980s and member of both the Roads and Transport Sub-committee and the Events Sub-committee. She remains a member of the sub-committees.

Peter Jefferson Smith, who has convened the Events Sub-committee for the last year is giving up that role, but will remain on the Sub-committee and also on the Local history Sub-committee where his unrivalled knowledge of Clapham history is invaluable, and of course he remains as Vice-President of the Clapham Society. We thank them all for their hard work and effectiveness.

It is therefore imperative that we find members willing to devote a few hours a week to Society matters and to attend Committee meetings on a regular basis. A civic society relies on its members to keep working and to maintain momentum. If other Clapham Society members are not willing to take a turn, the Society will end up moribund. Please have a careful think and let me know if you would be willing and able to help. We have 800 members, so surely some of you have time to spare and views on Clapham?

That aside, this year has been a very busy one for Committee members, who have been occupied with two key issues: the increase in the number and size of events on the Common, and the completion of the Old Town regeneration. This is in addition to our on-going work on planning, history, events and walks.

Anna Jefferson Smith has worked tirelessly on all matters relating to the Common. While much that is happening on the Common has remained under the hat of the Clapham Common Management Advisory Committee, of which we are part, the different groups and individuals on that committee have sometimes developed and followed through particular interests. The Friends of Clapham Common have devoted much time and effort to trees and biodiversity, the Bandstand Beds group represent a growing interest in community planting and the Clapham Society continues to exert pressure on Lambeth Council to provide a workable strategy for events. The previous strategy, 'refreshed' in 2008, was discarded in 2011 in order that income from the Council's parks and green spaces could be maximised.

It became apparent that the size of events, both in terms of numbers (up to 45,000 attendees), area occupied, and length of time on site were escalating, so in January a small deputation from the Clapham Society requested a meeting with Derrick Anderson, Lambeth Chief Executive. We were heard sympathetically and we have been promised a new statement of Lambeth's events policy.

Readers of our newsletter will appreciate that there are other issues surrounding events. They include suitability of venue to the type of event. Worst in this category was the Freeze Festival held last November which resulted in a lot of environmental damage with a completely inadequate amount of money spent on re-instatement.

We are working with a barrister to try to unravel the law as it applies to Metropolitan Commons, and in particular as it relates to commercial activity on Clapham Common. Daniel Dovar has done a great job in making this happen. Members will be kept updated. If there are any solicitors or barristers amongst our members who would be keen to provide advice and assistance, we would be only too delighted to know!

Sadly our excellent Area Parks Manager, Victor Chin-Kit, has been away for months because of illness and compassionate leave. This has increased the burden on officers with borough wide responsibility, in particular Dave Paul and Dr Iain Boulton. Jeff Macdonald of Veolia has remained as committed as ever to the care of our precious green space.

As the Old Town regeneration project draws to a close, opinion seems largely in favour of the new space, with a few concerns remaining on the placement of pedestrian crossings, some worries about pavement safety in regard to the 'Copenhagen' crossings and cycle lanes. There is also some concern about the tree-planting programme. A loud and colourful celebration marked the practical completion of the works at the beginning of June on the new piazza adjoining The Polygon. Monitoring the progress of the agreed scheme, and subsequent amendments to it, has been the major pre-occupation of the Roads and Transport Sub-committee, energetically led by Mark Leffler.

Other issues looked at by the sub-committee this year include the complexity and cost of parking controls across the area, commercial refuse collection arrangements, pedestrian safety at major junctions, and recently the proposals to redevelop the bus station at Vauxhall Cross as part of plans to remove the gyratory road scheme.

Vauxhall is a vitally important point of interchange between bus, tube and rail, as well as being one of the busiest road junctions in the country. A programme of public consultation is proposed to commence this autumn on options that all currently envisage removal of the existing bus station and creation of a new shopping precinct. While outside our area, this development has important implications for Clapham's residents and businesses, and it is appropriate that the Society should help to facilitate full consideration of the scheme. The sub-committee will be liaising with other amenity groups to this end.

The Planning Sub-committee headed up by Philip Ashford has been notified of 320 planning applications, of which 55 were reviewed in-depth and representations were made on 24. Details of the most important of these have appeared regularly in the newsletter. The sub-committee's work was made harder by having to view all applications at the new library rather than having copies available to take to their meetings. However, following a request to Lambeth Council, viewing applications and borrowing files has improved.

A lot of time was taken with objections to applications which intensified restaurant/bar activities in the Old Town with attendant increased noise and social issues. Representations were made on the housing co-op properties being sold off by Lambeth Council. We opposed these sales and supported residents who were objecting. The sub-committee also recorded features of these heritage assets before they went to auction.

Applications concerning 3-5 Turnchapel Mews received much attention, as the proposals involve practically demolishing a number of historic buildings with the replacements being over-large replicas.

Under the guidance of Derrick Johnson, convenor of the Local History Sub-committee, the Society's fifth commemorative plaque was unveiled on the former Parochial Church School (35 Macaulay Road) on 23 May by Frederique van der Vorm, the owner of the property. Progress is being made on further plaques for the Oddfellows Hall, Clapham Pottery and Omnibus.

A photographic project was launched with a good response to the newsletter request for volunteers to photograph Clapham's streets and some high quality images have been received. Members of the sub-committee led our regular programme of summer walks together with further walks for Wandsworth Heritage Festival, the May Day Common People event, and Clapham Manor Primary School. Local history now forms part of the syllabus for year 3 children and we also supplied material to Eaton House The Manor and Wix's Lane Schools.

This year we have manned our display stands at a record number of events: the May Day Common People event, Wandsworth Heritage Festival, Clapham Old Town opening, St Paul's Summer Fair, The Common Fayre, Abbeville Fete, Studio Voltaire Open Studios Day and Lambeth Archives Open Day.

Our monthly meetings are now held at Omnibus, 1 Clapham Common North Side and this has proved a very popular venue. We have been entertained and educated by local members including Vicky Pryce talking of her prison experiences and her views on how the prison system serves women, by Michael Crick on his encounters with politics and politicians and we were reminded of Clapham's association with the bicycle in a talk by Roger Armstrong. Local issues were covered in talks on Sustaining the High Street by Jeremy Keates and on the plans for Nine Elms on the South Bank by Helen Fisher.

Our annual Summer Party was very successful. It was held at the home of Wayne Amiel who has an exuberant and colourful Jamaican garden which was greatly enjoyed. This year again the Clapham Society organised its own late summer concert on Clapham Common Bandstand with the Dixie Strollers, a seven-piece Jazz band.

The Clapham Society now has a Facebook page, and we are on Twitter, so please do re-tweet and add your 'like' to the page. We have recently introduced a 'Last Minute News' on our website. We are grateful to our webmaster, Christina Bonnett, for these additions as well as for her regular, efficient maintenance of the website.

A big thank you to all the newsletter deliverers who make sure the newsletters arrive whatever the weather. Thank you to all our speakers and to the hardworking Committee members. I want to be able to introduce you to the new generation of Committee members next year.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Treasurer's Report

The income of the Society was similar to last year; subscriptions and donations are slightly down, with gift aid tax recoverable and summer party receipts compensating for this.

The deficit for the year was largely accounted for by the following significant items of expenditure; donation to Omnibus of £1,700 to purchase stacking chairs, two commemorative plaques for local buildings (one of which a donation was received to covered the cost) and the design and cost of Bandstand booklets.

As mentioned in Note 2 a claim for tax recoverable under the gift aid scheme has been made for the earliest year 2009-10 since the year-end and funds received from HMR&C. Claims for the subsequent years are in progress.

EXAMINER'S REPORT

Independent Examiner's Report to the Committee

I report on the Accounts of the Society for the year to 31st March 2014, as set out above.

Respective Responsibilities of Executive Committee and Examiner

The charity trustees are responsible for the preparation of the Accounts; you consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144(2) of the Charities Act 2011 (the 2011 Act) and that an independent examination is needed. It is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the 2011 Act;
- to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act; and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention

Basis of Independent Examiner's Report

My examination was carried out in accordance with the general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below

Independent Examiner's Statement

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

- (1) which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the requirements:
  - (a) to keep accounting records in accordance with section 130 of the of the 2011 Act; and section 44(1)(a) of the 2005 Act
  - (b) to prepare Accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the 2011 Act have not been met; or
- (2) to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the Accounts to be reached.

PUBLICATIONS

Discovering Clapham. (2007) 104 pages. The book starts with an overview of the history of Clapham, setting out how it developed from a small rural village to the bustling part of inner London it is today. The following seven chapters take seven different areas of Clapham, and illustrate a selection of the interesting buildings, giving some background and details to put them in context. Illustrations and information about some notable former residents are included in appropriate places.

This is our first colour publication. Many of the pictures are photographs taken specifically for the book, and older pictures include prints and drawings, historic photographs as well as paintings and watercolours, which for the first time we are able to do justice to by printing in colour. £6.00 (members) or £7.50 (non-members)

The Clapham Sect. Margaret Bryant (2004) 64 pages. The story of a group of people whose activities changed the world. Wealthy Clapham businessmen and religious philanthropists, they fought to change the moral climate of their times, and campaigned against the injustices of slavery and the slave trade. Led by William Wilberforce in Parliament, their greatest achievement was the outlawing of the Atlantic slave trade in 1807. Margaret Bryant paints a vivid picture of these remarkable people and their lives in late eighteenth century Clapham and reminds us how much our modern world owes to them. £6.00 (members) or £7.50 (non-members)

Clapham in the Twentieth Century. (2002) 236 pages. A collection of letters, diaries and memories of Clapham during the century, from Graham Greene, Jack Hobbs and Noel Coward to immigrants from the West Indies, Poland and Kosovo, local businessmen, shopkeepers and schoolchildren. In the words of those who witnessed them, the book tracks the changes in Clapham from the last years of Queen Victoria's reign through two World Wars, depression, revival and gentrification to the lively, popular family area that it had become by 2000. NOW REDUCED TO £5.

Clapham Saints and Sinners. Eric Smith (1987) 78 pages. A fascinating selection of extracts from the Occasional Sheets of the Clapham Antiquarian Society, packed with information about the history of Clapham and its residents. £5.00.

CD of Clapham Antiquarian Society Occasional Sheets. (2005) The entire collection of monthly sheets (see above) issued between 1947 and 1992 by the CAS, which merged with the Clapham Society in 2005, on a CD. An invaluable resource for anyone researching Clapham history. Price on application.

Clapham Walks: Self-guided walks leaflets, each covering a different area of Clapham. Price £1 each or all seven walks for £5.00.
